

A map of the Philippines archipelago is shown against a light blue background. The islands are colored in a light pinkish-red hue. A network of thin, grey lines is overlaid on the map, representing a road or infrastructure network. The Japanese text 'フィリピン' (Philippines) is written in a bold, black font with a white outline, centered over the main island group. In the bottom-left corner, a portion of a white landmass is visible, with the Japanese character 'バ' (Ba) written next to it.
